

Humanitarian Action Study Group - Development Studies Association Ireland
Panel Discussion

Conflict and displacement in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC)

Wednesday 25th April at 18.30

Room G16, Irish School of Ecumenics, Trinity College Dublin

Open Street Map link (marked as “Physiology Building”)

Google Map link: <https://goo.gl/maps/CkXf5rD7ism>

Katanika Displacement Settlement, Tanganyika Province, is now home to about 70,000 people. Most of them list food, clean water, cash, clothes, healthcare and education as their most crucial needs. Photo: NRC/Christian Jepsen

The Democratic Republic of Congo is facing one of the world’s worst humanitarian crises. Over 4 million people have been displaced due to conflict, facing immense obstacles and often uncertain futures in their search for safety. Meanwhile, crises in neighbouring states are driving cross-border movements in a wider region long beset by cycles of conflict and poverty.

Speakers:

- Caitriona Dowd (Humanitarian Policy Officer, Concern Worldwide)
- Niall O’Rourke (Humanitarian Operations and Performance Manager, Christian Aid)
- Niamh Gaynor (Dublin City University)
- Seán Ó hAodha (Irish Aid)

